LAST MONTH'S PUZZLER:

A cruise ship sinks, stranding Karl and his 9-man Lynyrd Skynyrd cover band on a deserted island. There they find lots of coconuts and an ill-tempered monkey. During their first day, they gather coconuts and put them all in a community pile. After working all day, they decide to sleep and divide them into ten equal piles the next morning. That night one band member wakes up hungry and decides to take his share early. After dividing up the coconuts he finds he is one coconut short of ten equal piles. He also notices the monkey glaring at him and holding one more coconut. So, the band member goes over and tries to take the monkey's coconut (so he would have a total number of coconuts evenly divisible by 10), but when he tries to take the coconut, the monkey conks him on the head with it, killing him instantly.

Later the same night, another band member wakes up hungry and decides to take her share early. On the way to the coconuts she finds the body of the first rocker, which pleases her because she will now be entitled to $\frac{1}{9}$ of the total pile. After dividing the coconuts into nine piles, she is again, one coconut short and she tries to take the monkey's slightly bloodied coconut. The monkey conks the second band member on the head, adding her to the body count.

One by one each of the remaining FreeByrds goes through the same process until Karl wakes to find he has the entire pile to himself. What is the smallest number of possible coconuts in the pile, not counting the one still gripped by the ornery monkey?

Congratulations Ross H., you're this month's Puzzle Master! Contact us for your prize
